

PLANS A HOME IN PARK STREET

Banner Young Men's Republican Club Likely to Build House.

ITS CONDITION IS THRIVING

Party Organization Has Bank Balance of $1,600 and Is Popular. Larger Meeting Place Deemed Desirable.

The Banner Young Men's Republican Club is considering plans for the erection of a clubhouse in Park street, near Batten street, on land to be leased from John Kirchofer. The club has long occupied rooms at Park and Batten streets, so that the club house will be in practically the same location as at present. The proposed clubhouse will have connection with the present place of meeting.

The club has been organized over twenty years and is one of the most prosperous and successful political organizations in the city. Mr. Kirchofer has been treasurer and at present the club has a balance on hand of over $1,600, which is an unheard of condition for a political club. It has a large membership, not only from the Third and Fourth wards, but from all over the city. The interest taken in the organization is shown by the fact that on the excursion given by the club to Sylvan Beach Sunday were 794 persons, and about seventy-five joined later on regular trains.

Definite Action Taken Soon.

President George J. Yacobi said yesterday that the proposition to build the clubhouse has been well talked over and that probably definite action will be taken soon. The plan as proposed is to erect a building which will provide for a meeting hall of more convenient size and arrangements than the present quarters. In addition it is intended to put in a kitchen in the basement with equipment for furnishing refreshments. Club rooms will be fitted up for the use of the organization on such occasions as they may be required.

Mr. Kirchofer is still in the hospital and final arrangements will not be made until he is able to be about. It is understood that an agreement will be made with him by which the club will erect the building on his land and that he will lease from the club the use of portions of the building when not required by the organization.

BUYS HOUSE AND VACANT LOT

William A. Wynkoop Invests in and Near James Street.

William A. Wynkoop has purchased of Mrs. Mary L. Brewster the residence property at No. 31 Catharine street, first house south of James street, and the vacant lot between the Kussan apartment house and William H. Haber's residence in James street. The lot is deep with a frontage of sixty feet.

The Brewster house is a large frame structure, pleasantly situated and occupies a large lot. The consideration for the two pieces of property is not made public. Mr. Wynkoop has no plans at this time for improving the vacant property.

Franklin Company Buys.

Another realty transaction made public yesterday was the purchase by the Franklin Manufacturing Company of the house and lot in West Marcellus street, owned by Eliza J. Ford. The consideration was $1,000. The lot is 40x120 feet. This company is buying up property around its present plant for the purpose of eventually extending its factory.

HONORS OF CHRISTIAN BURIAL DENIED TO CATHOLICS DYING SPENDING SUNDAY AT PLEASURE

Bishop Ludden Issues a Drastic Order—Example Made in Murphy Case.

By order of Rt. Rev. Bishop P. A. Ludden the priests of the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception have refused the honors of Christian burial to William F. Murphy who was drowned in one of the Tully lakes on Sunday morning, and whose funeral was scheduled to take place from the Cathedral this morning. The Bishop's action is based on the fact that Murphy did not attend mass on Sunday and consequently violated the Fourth Commandment. The Bishop, however, grants permission to have the body interred in consecrated ground in St. Agnes Cemetery. The news of the Bishop's order was received as a great blow to the family of the deceased who have always been members of the Cathedral parish.

What will be a surprise to all Catholics in the city and diocese of Syracuse is a sweeping order made by the Bishop yesterday and given by him for publication in The Post-Standard. The case of young Murphy is made the occasion of the order which will be heretofore put into effect by pastors under similar circumstances. The order is as follows: "Our rule will be to refuse the honors of Christian burial to those who die by accident on the Lord's Day having culpably violated its duties and obligations. As Catholics are obliged under pain of mortal sin to attend service on Sundays, unless excused on reasonable grounds, this order of the Bishop's, it is expected, will have a tendency to make them more careful in the future.

Bishop Is Emphatic.

When asked yesterday concerning his refusal to admit the body of Murphy to the church the Bishop was most emphatic and determined in his attitude towards the violation of the Sabbath by Catholics. He stated that Catholics who seem to be more inclined each year to disregard the observance of the Sabbath. "They think," he said, "that having attended at the church in the morning they can do whatever their fancy suggests with the rest of the day. They have a great deal to learn from their non-Catholic sisters in this matter of Sunday observance."

Continuing, the Bishop said: "Many who call themselves Christians and some who call themselves Catholics start out on Saturday nights and Sunday mornings to spend the Sunday at some pleasure resorts, places of very questionable amusements, such as dancing, midways and drinking places. All these forget the observance of the Fourth Commandment 'Keep Holy the Sabbath Day.'"

Depart from the ethical question of appearing at these resorts, every Catholic knows that he is bound to attend at divine service and bear mass on Sunday and by the culpable omission of this duty he constitutes himself in the state of mortal sin.

Sabbath for Man; Man for God.

"While the Sabbath is made for man, man is made for God. Hence the first duty on the Sabbath is to give glory to God according to prescribed forms of divine service, then sanctified rest and innocent recreation.

"Owing to the manner of our Sunday observance with its crowded excursions on land and water accidents are frequent. Crowded cars are wrecked, fishing boats are overturned and violent quarrels take place at dancing and drinking places. Yesterday on the Tully lakes a young man, Murphy by name, was drowned. He and a party of young men went there on Saturday night and the accident, according to published reports, occurred at 3.5 Sunday morning. Some of the party were non-Catholics and, perhaps, did not consider themselves bound to assist at divine service as do Catholics on Sunday. They ought to get better example from Catholic young men who by the teachings of their faith are more culpable and less excusable.

Without discussing further the ethics of this question and its discreditation our rule will be to refuse the honors of Christian burial to those who die by accident on the Lord's day, having culpably violated its duties and obligations.

Christian Burial Not Refused.

The refusal by the ecclesiastical authorities to allow a funeral from the church and which is styled "the honors of religion," does not imply that Christian burial is refused. Christian burial

GEOLOGISTS IN CITY TO SPEND THE WEEK

Will Join With American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Several college professors and graduate students in geology from various colleges who are taking the Summer Intercollegiate Course of Geology arrived at St. Cloud last night from Watkins Glen, where yesterday was spent investigating the geological formations of that vicinity.

The party started three weeks ago under the leadership of Prof. William E. Clark of Johns Hopkins University. During the first week the coastal plain as exemplified by the formations in the State of Maryland was studied, the party having the use of the boat of the city engineer of Baltimore and the private yacht of the Governor of Maryland.

During the second week the party was joined by Prof. Davis of Harvard and traveled through Pennsylvania, beginning with the southern part. The various features of the Appalachian mountain range were studied.

The third week Prof. T. C. Hopkins of Syracuse University joined the party and the week was spent in the vicinity of Watkins Glen, where a chance was afforded for the study of young streams cutting through the plateau.

This week the party will join with Section E of the American Association for the Advancement of Science which convenes in this city to-morrow. This will be presided over by Prof. Rice of Wesleyan University, who arrived with the party last night. Prof. Rice is state geologist of Connecticut.

J. S. Grady, a graduate student at Johns Hopkins University, was with the party at the St. Cloud last night. L. F. Noble and C. F. Underwood of Auburn, who are graduate students at Yale, remained at their home at Auburn last night and will be in the city to-day. E. R. Smith of Skaneateles, a graduate student of the University of Pennsylvania, spent last night at his home.

The party will be joined to-day by Prof. Harold O. Whitnall of Colgate, who lives in this city. Robert Stringer of Morrisville, a student at Colgate, and Prof. A. W. Farnham of the Oswego Normal School.

LOAD OF HAY AND THISTLES PLAYS HAVOC WITH LINGERIE

Driver Goes Too Close to an Open Car for Comfort.

Mercy sakes! Heavens! Gee whizz! Wow!

Everybody on the east side of a north-bound open Valley car yesterday fell over onto his or her neighbor and gave vent to individual exclamations as a shower of new mown hay deluged the interior. The hay was blown over, and as the car swept by a goodly share of it was brushed into the car.

It was the good old thistle kind, and one woman came out of the shower with several scratches on neck and wrists, where the cloth was thinnest.

The men occupants looked like members of the Haymakers Association. One young woman regaled with an open-work hat, trimmed with roses, left the car with several blades of dried red clover enhancing its beauty.

AFFAIRS OF THE POLICE.

In Police Court yesterday morning adjournment was taken in the case of Mrs. Lena Goldberg of No. 103 Monroe street, who was charged with selling some ribbon and a fan from the Edwards store. She pleaded not guilty and bail was fixed at $200, which was furnished.

It cost Onondaga county $50 to bring John Liska, the thimbleder, from New York for fraud larceny in stealing clothes valued at $50 from his companion, Nicholas Rok. He waited examination and was held for the action of the Grand Jury, but later it was discovered that the value of the apparel was $25. He was charged with larceny, in which case Justice Thomson suspended sentence.

Suspended sentence was rendered in Police Court yesterday in the case of John Fitzgerald of No. 111 Clinton street, charged with breach of the peace. Although Mary's face was badly cut she refused to give the name of her assailant.

John Burke, a new-boy living at No. 1215 East Fayette street, was given a deferred sentence in Juvenile Court yesterday. He was charged with breach of the peace in causing a disturbance at the New York Central station.

While intoxicated John Schaner of Albany broke a window in a North Salina street saloon Saturday night. He was arrested and Justice Thomson discharged him.

Frank Casland, a printer living at the Workmen Hotel, and a man named Louis Moran, were each sentenced to the Penitentiary for sixty days by Justice Thomson yesterday, respectively for public intoxication and being a tramp.
